

Police Chiefs Unhappy With New Law

By AL CHESTER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The new rules regulating the apprehension of criminal suspects in Pennsylvania don't sit too well with Lower Bucks chiefs of police.

The big complaint is that the regulations will hamper police in law enforcement and "turn us into lawyers instead of being policemen."

These rules are part of a trend taking place elsewhere. The Philadelphia Bar Association has recently proposed a code to control publication and broadcast of evidence in criminal cases. Judicial authorities in five states are considering limiting newsmen in pre-trial situations. And the New Jersey Supreme Court has also tightened up rules on divulging pre-trial information.

Yesterday, Bucks JPs voiced opposition to the new Pennsylvania regulations.

District Attorney William Carlin also feels some of the new rules will place a burden on law enforcement officers. In the long run, though, Carlin thinks the regulations will be beneficial.

"We'll have to work with them," he said, "and do the best we can."

These rules are part of a sweeping edict on criminal procedure promulgated by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The edict goes into effect Jan. 1, 1965.

Other provisions regard press, radio, and TV coverage of hearings, and the obtaining of pleas by justices of the peace. Under the old practice a JP would ask a defendant for a guilty or not-guilty plea at a hearing. Under the new procedure, he is not allowed to do this.

But the provision which has drawn the ire of police officers concerns the apprehension of criminal suspects. Under it, a summons is issued when the offense charged is punishable by a sentence of not more than two years.

If more than two years, a warrant of arrest is issued. The (Continued on Page 40, Col. 5)

Bar's Policy Code Brings Opposition

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Opposition mounted today to a proposed "statement of policy" for the Philadelphia Bar Association which would restrict newsmen in their coverage of criminal cases.

The proposed code, drawn up by the Bar Association's Criminal Law Committee and endorsed by its Board of Governors, will be submitted to a vote by Philadelphia lawyers at a special meeting Dec. 29.

It would restrict lawyers, prosecutors, judges and law enforcement officers in disclosing information about criminal cases and would bar newsmen from police records, offices of police officials and the offices of prosecutors. It also would ban cameras, radio and television equipment from courtrooms, including magistrates' courts.

Chief opposition came from the news media which called the code a step toward censorship and an infringement of the right of the public to be informed.

The Bristol-Levittown Courier-Times yesterday editorially said that "freedom of speech and the right of the public to know are inseparably related... when a committee of lawyers recommends that police reports be kept secret, that journalists be barred from police and prosecutors offices, that details of crime be kept under (Continued on Page 40, Col. 4)

Good Evening!

Amazing weather.

Here we are, past mid-December, and still not enough of the white to make a good-sized snowball. If this sort of thing continues you can quit dreaming about Florida's royal palms.

Lower Bucks County's wave of vandalism, hoodlumism and crime in general growing, as you've probably noticed by the papers.

Isn't it about time our municipal officials, our police officials and our county law enforcement people get their heads together and give a bit of serious attention to a worsening situation?

Well, we see where District Attorney Crumlish wastes no time in announcing his opposition to that foolish "code" dreamed up by the Philadelphia Bar Association which would black out news and arbitrarily take away from the people their constitutional right to know.

In view of growing widespread public anger over and resistance to such a proposal making mockery of justice and principles of democracy, we have an idea that the handful of lawyers who engineered this one will soon be doing an embarrassing retreat.

And President Johnson decides to deliver his state of the union speech before an unusual night session of Congress, January 4, on prime television time. This gentleman just never stops politicking.

Of course, he's taking a page — in more ways than one — from Franklin D. Roosevelt's book. You recall (or do you?) that FDR grabbed prime radio time the night of January 3, 1936 for his address to the joint Congress.

Judging from the gratifying response to this Give-A-Christmas Fund sponsored by the Courier-Times and the Levittown Kiwanis Club a lot of less-chance Lower Bucks youngsters are going to have a merrier holiday season than they ever dreamed.

Hearts of our folks around here very, very large indeed.

It's true — by the time a man has the shape for the job, his kids no longer believe in Santa Claus.

TIP LEADS TO ARRESTS

2 Held In Twp. Burglary Wave

Bristol Township police yesterday arrested two Bristol Borough men and charged them with a series of burglaries in the township.

The men, Lee Jennings of 410 Logan St. and Michael Moffo of 203 Wood St., were out on bail from Bucks County Prison awaiting court action on a charge of burglarizing a Bristol Borough realty office last month.

With the arrests, township police said they solved the burglary of the Robert Hall store on Route 13, the Levittown Floor Covering Co. and the Windsor Paint Co., both in the Windsor Shopping Center, and the Beef and Ale Tavern, 713 State Road, Croydon. The last three were committed after their release on bail.

16 Hours Investigating

Bristol Township Police Lt. Thomas Stewart said Detectives James Dunn and William Edmond had spent 16 hours investigating before they made the arrests. A tip led them to Jennings who in turn implicated Moffo, Stewart said.

Jennings was arrested for questioning, Stewart said, and a search warrant secured. He said Dunn and Edmond found some of the clothing taken from the Hall store along with nearly $300 in cash.

In Moffo's home Dunn and Edmond found more of the clothing from the Hall store.

Stewart said. In all, $2,000 in clothing has been recovered. Police said the store was burglarized on Nov. 20. Entrance was gained through a hole chopped in the roof. Jennings was arrested in the parking lot of the Bucks County Courthouse in Doylestown. The (Continued on Page 24, Col. 2)

After 6-Month Stay

Ted Kennedy Walks Unaided Out Of Hospital In Boston

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy walked out of New England Baptist Hospital twice today, almost six months after his back was broken in a plane crash.

The Massachusetts Democrat slipped quietly out of the hospital in the predawn to visit the grave and widow of an aide, Edward Moss who was killed in the crash.

Kennedy then returned to the hospital and five hours later walked out again as a discharged patient to fly to Florida.

Kennedy and aides Edward Martin and Raymond La Rosa first left the hospital at 5 a.m. (EST) and drove to a cemetery in Andover, 25 miles away, where Moss was buried.

Kennedy climbed an icy 25 foot high hill in frigid temperatures to Moss' grave and stood and prayed there for about eight minutes.

They then motored to Moss' widow's home in Andover and chatted with her and her three daughters for about 30 minutes.

During his second trip out of the hospital, Kennedy walked slowly and deliberately.

Hodges Quits As Secretary Of Commerce

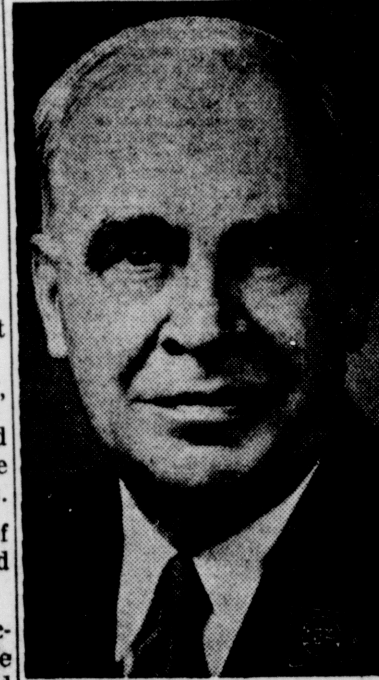

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges resigned today. President Johnson selected John T. Connor, president of the Merck and Co. Pharmaceutical Co., to succeed him.

Johnson made the announcement of the first cabinet appointment under his administration at a White House ceremony.

Hodges, 66, was present when Johnson made the announcement.

Connor, 50, who served as a special assistant to the late one-time defense secretary James Forrestal, also was present.

Johnson said he would send Connor's nomination to Congress at an early date and hoped his new cabinet choice would be able to take over (Continued on Page 40, Col. 8)

McNamara Tells Western Allies

U. S. Has Mighty Weapons Arsenal To Protect Europe

PARIS (UPI) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the Western Allies today the United States has a mighty arsenal of weapons for the protection of Europe that includes more than 800 intercontinental ballistic missiles.

In a speech to the Council of Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), McNamara gave a revealing picture of American military strength.

The defense secretary said U. S. nuclear power includes: —More than 300 polaris missiles.

—Hundreds of B52 bombers.

—Total nuclear firepower located in Germany alone which is more than 5,000 times that of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945.

With all this power, McNamara said the United States sees no point in increasing expenditures on strategic weapons for the alliance.

He added that, in general, the present structural goals for forces within Europe appeared adequate if a few countries would go ahead and fulfill their commitments under those goals.

In summing up, McNamara told the council that roughly 40 (Continued on Page 40, Col. 8)

7 More Shopping Days Until Christmas

Give-A-Christmas Still Needs Your Help

Bucks Adding Up For Those Down On Luck

Goal	$3,000
Given Today	386.55
Given To date	2,202.40
Still Needed	797.60

Checks for $100 and $200 aren't easy to come by. Neither are those for $70, $50 or $25.

So when Give-A-Christmas gets them that size — there's something to shout about.

But you can't make out in this world if you put all your eggs in one basket. Those $10, $5 and $1 bills spread a wealth of food, clothing and toys among the less fortunate at Christmas time.

Big Contributors

An anonymous donor gave $200 toward the fund last week; the Levittown Lions, $100; the Levittown Exchange Club, $50; the employees of the Allison-Campbell Division of American Chain and Cable Co., $70; the John Fitch School faculty, $50;

the Levittown Junior Chamber of Commerce, $50; the salaried members of the mechanical department at Rohm & Haas, $84.50, and other checks keep rolling in.

But the bulk of the fund is built up through the smaller donations by the people of Lower Bucks who want to share Christmas with others.

They Add Up

Without those smaller bills and checks, an awful lot of children would go hungry and disappointed this Christmas.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world — just as it takes all kinds of donations to build the Give-A-Christmas fund co-sponsored by the Levittown Kiwanis Club and the Courier-Times.

Donations may be mailed to Give - A - Christmas, Courier-Times (Continued on Page 40, Col. 8)

Section Of Artery Removed

Duke Withstands Surgery 'Well'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Surgeons today removed a four-inch section of the Duke of Windsor's main artery and replaced it with an artificial "patch" in a 67 minute operation. The 70-year-old Duke withstood the surgery well.

"The surgery took one hour and seven minutes, during which doctors replaced a section of his aorta 10-12 centimeters (3.94-4.68 inches) long," said famed surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey.

DeBakey, who has performed thousands of such operations, went from the operating room to the administration offices to issue the report. Then he went to the fourth floor to inform the anxious duchess that all went well.

"He tolerated the surgery well and is now in what is expected to be a three-hour post-operative recovery period," DeBakey said.

The aorta is the main artery leading from the heart. From it, blood is pumped to arteries all over the body. In the case of the Duke, a section of the aorta in the abdominal region had become weakened.

The weakened section had ballooned out in an aneurysm. It was necessary to replace it because if it had burst, the result would have been fatal.

The operation started a 7:30 a.m. CST. Tests had shown the Duke was in excellent physical shape. He arrived Monday from New York.

He was awakened early today and the duchess went to his room. She stayed with him until she was wheeled to an elevator for the trip to the operating room.

DeBakey, whose day began more than three hours before the operation, also went to the Duke's room to see him before surgery. He expected to replace a section of the aorta with dacron tube that DeBakey developed in a number of similar operations, becoming the foremost surgeon in the field of aneurysms, as the weak spots are called.

The Duke has known for four years that he had the aneurysm in one of the main arteries from the heart. Pulsing blood had driven the wall out in a balloon-shaped curve the size of an orange, as one doctor described it.

Illness Heals Bitterness

LONDON (UPI) — Like any other family in the face of trouble the Windsors closed ranks today behind the Duke of Windsor with 28 years of estrangement all but forgotten.

Most of the remaining bitterness in the royal palaces over his abdication for love of an American divorcee drained away with the word the 70-year-old former King Edward VIII was in a Houston, Texas, hospital for arterial treatment.

His niece, Queen Elizabeth, sent him flowers as did his sister, the Princess Royal. His brother, the Duke of Gloucester, sent him a get-well-soon cable.

And in court circles the hope was expressed that the duke would now reconsider his decision never to live again in his homeland unless his duchess, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, is raised to the status of a royal highness. His insistence on this is the only reason for his self-exile from Britain.

The Duke's decision to give up the throne to marry Mrs. Warfield shook the royal family — which places public duty above all else — as few events in its long history.

Office A Shambles

Burglars Steal UNICEF Funds

Burglars last night broke into the William Penn Center, Fallsington, and stole several hundred dollars in funds earmarked for UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund).

UNICEF money goes overseas to help children victimized by disaster or extreme poverty.

Unconcerned about the uses of the money, the burglars took $100 in cash collected from sales of UNICEF cards, and an undetermined amount (but believed to total several hundred dollars) from the orange UNICEF collection boxes. They also made away with $26 destined for the Bristol Terrace Community Center.

Covered By Insurance

Thomas Colgan, executive director of American Friends Service Association, whose headquarters are in the building, said the amount stolen is covered by insurance. The bulk of the money collected since the drive began on Halloween, some $1,500, was previously deposited in the bank.

The thieves left the office a shambles. They emptied closets, threw records on the floor, and broke a section of a wall. The office door lock was broken to gain entrance.

Police believe the burglars got into the building through a window. Yellow drapes which cover books in the library were also missing, and may have been used to carry out the coin boxes.

The entry was discovered this morning by Chester Kimble of Fallsington who opens up the building each day. He in turn notified Mrs. Sylvia Kline, office manager, who contacted police.

Widow Gives Birth After Heir's Death

LUCERNE, Switzerland — (UPI) — The widow of Richard J. Reynolds Jr. today gave birth to a daughter — less than two days after the tobacco heir's death from a lung ailment.

Reynolds, 58, who had been kept alive for years with oxygen from a special breathing machine, died Monday night at Santa Anna clinic.

His fourth wife, German-born Anneliese Schmitt was in the same hospital awaiting the birth of the child.

The hospital said Mrs. Reynolds gave birth to a healthy girl around noon, (6 a.m. EST.) both the 35-year-old mother and the infant, named Irene Sabine, were well, a spokesman said.

Dreaming of a white Christmas?

Well don't bet on it. The odds, according to the weatherman, are 100 to 1 against it.

George Whiteley, meteorologist at the Trenton Weather Bureau, informs us that no snow was on the ground on Christmas Day from 1951 to 1959.

But then we had a white Christmas the next four years. In 1960, three-tenths of an inch fell on Dec. 24.

It was really a white one in 1961 as 5.7 inches of snow fell on Dec. 23 and 24. The following year saw only 1.5 inches of snow, which fell on Dec. 25.

Last year the youngsters had themselves a ball with 6.8 inches of snow falling on Dec. 23 and 24.

While the weather bureau says the odds are against a white Christmas for '64, there are others who disagree.

The Old Farmer's Almanac predicts snows up to eight inches, mixed with rain or sleet, between Dec. 22-24.

All we're sure of is winter arrives at 2:50 p.m. on Dec. 21 and Christmas comes on Dec. 25. Only time will tell whether it will be a white Christmas. * * *

During a discussion of fire hydrants at last night's Upper Southampton Township Supervisor's meeting, in the Southampton Fire Company meeting room, Arthur Stump, supervisor explained to the audience that the use of the hydrants cost the township $50 a year each.

He said the township did not have to pay for the water used for fighting fires in the township.

Minutes later the fire company siren sounded and volunteer firemen in the audience rushed for their equipment and boarded trucks to fight a fire which caused an estimated $6,000 in damages.

Meet On Amiable Level

Cautious Optimism Expressed At Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bargainers for the "big 11" steel firms and the United Steelworkers union (USW) resume contract negotiations today in an atmosphere of cautious optimism.

J. Warren Shaver, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp.'s bargaining team and his union counterpart, James Griffin, director of USW

District 26 in Youngstown, Ohio, expressed guarded hope talks would continue to proceed on an amiable level after their opening two hour session Tuesday.

"The meeting went fine," Shaver said, adding he was "hopeful" a contract agreement could be reached.

Griffin said the union "got in a good opening statement which was supplemented by several union representatives."

Sees Agreement

Joseph Molony, Buffalo, District 4 director who met with Bethlehem Steel Co. negotiators, said he thought "an agreement will be reached."

"I don't like to think in terms of a strike deadline," he said. "Our talks were friendly."

When the U.S. Steel talks opened one of the bargainers said he hoped "the spirit of Christmas" would prevail at the bargaining table.

But the spirit of good will which marked the end of the separate talks contrasted with an air of fridity earlier in the day. Both sides struck verbal blows only a few hours before the contract talks opened.

Seeking Unfair Share

Industry led off when R. Conrad Cooper, chief bargainer for the "big 11," issued an industry position statement asking the union to pare its demands. Industry accused the union of seeking an "unfair share" of industry profits and argued that steel has declined in the last decade.

USW President David J. McDonald said the industry was guilty of bad arithmetic.

"For the present," McDonald said, "it is sufficient for the union to say that almost all of the figures in the companies' statement are incorrect and that those that are mathematically correct are used erroneously."

Those familiar with steel negotiations said the union's demands are the most costly ever made on the industry. Sources close to the USW said the union is shooting for wage gains totaling about 43 cents an hour.

The sessions are expected to adjourn Friday for the holidays and resume Jan. 5.

"The First Christmas"

Stumbling along the dark road which led to Bethlehem, David and his father suddenly noticed a bright light in the sky and heard a strong but sweet voice saying:

Dov and his father dropped to their knees and looked toward Heaven.
